

Teaching with the Common Core Standards for English Language Arts PreK

The Common Core State Standards (CCSS) for English Language Arts (ELA) are a set of rigorous standards that define what students should know and be able to do in English language arts from kindergarten through twelfth grade. The CCSS were developed by a consortium of states and educators, and they are now used by most states in the United States.

The CCSS for ELA are organized into four strands:

- Reading: This strand includes standards for reading comprehension, vocabulary, and fluency.
- Writing: This strand includes standards for writing different types of texts, including narrative, expository, and persuasive.
- Language: This strand includes standards for grammar, usage, and mechanics.
- Speaking and Listening: This strand includes standards for speaking and listening in a variety of contexts.

The CCSS for ELA are designed to help students develop the skills they need to be successful in college and careers. They emphasize critical thinking, problem solving, and communication skills.
